

About Nick Georgano,
Editor in Chief

Nick Georgano is one of motoring's most highly regarded journalists and historians.

In a lifetime of writing about automobiles, Nick has edited or written 31 titles, many of which are regarded as some of the finest and most enjoyable in their field.

In 1982 The Guild of Motoring Writers honoured him with the Montagu Trophy for his outstanding contribution to motoring journalism with The Complete Encyclopædia of Motorcars, and again in 1995 for his contribution to Britain's Motor Industry – The First 100 Years.

In America, Nick received the Nicolas Cugnot Award from the Society of Automotive Historians – a further recognition of his achievements.

Nick was Head Librarian at the National Motor Museum from 1976-81 and is a member of the Museum's Advisory Council. He is also a trustee of the Michael Sedgwick Memorial Trust and the Horseless Carriage Foundation, California.

"It has been a long-time dream of mine that the National Motor Museum at Beaulieu should be closely connected with a major motoring work of reference"

Lord Montagu

The Beaulieu name

The Beaulieu Encyclopædia of the Automobile is introduced by Lord Montagu of Beaulieu, the founder of the National Motor Museum at Beaulieu.

Beaulieu has been connected with motoring from the earliest days of the motor car in the UK. Lord Montagu's father purchased his first car in 1898 and this was followed a year later by the first four-cylinder Daimler to be built in England.

This car, along with many other classics, is in the National Motor Museum today.

A fitting publisher

The Stationery Office is the largest publisher by volume in the UK and has published government and official information for many years. More recently, TSO has established a reputation as the source for definitive and expert opinion on a wide variety of subjects. The company has also become the publisher of Whitaker's Almanack.

It is fitting that such a respected organisation, with unparalleled resources, should publish the remarkable achievement that is The Beaulieu Encyclopædia of the Automobile.

The Encyclopædia set is certain to attract similar acclaim to that of another recent masterpiece from The Stationery Office: The Crown Jewels – The History of the Coronation Regalia.

This two-volume production provides the complete history of the coronation ceremony and a lavishly photographed catalogue of regalia, swords, plates and textiles – including their origins.
